How it works

Acquiring SaaS applications has never been easier, while optimizing license usage and spend has never been more difficult. Accounting systems are designed to track invoices and payments, but do not provide the license allocation information needed to make critical cost savings decisions. It is finally time to get rid of those complicated spreadsheets and outdated software license management tools and let Augmentt Optimize take the complexity out of the equation.

It's time to optimize your SaaS Subscription and stop overpaying.
