

MOKI

Enterprise Mobility Management

Remote device management for dedicated devices. When your devices have one or only a few purposes, you need a remote device management that is tailored to your use case. Why waste money and time on features you don't need.

No Advanced Degree Required

Moki is built with simplicity in mind. We believe that to operate an MDM system you should not need to get a degree is computer science. We strive to make managing your device fleet as easy as operating your smartphone. Our comprehensive knowledge base and world class customer support means help is never far away. We pride ourselves on being timely and efficient so you can get back to running your business.

No need to be stuck to one operating system.

Moki supports Android, iOS and BrightSign.

Front of the house devices and back of the house devices can all be seen on a single pane of glass. Manage everything on Moki from your POS to digital signage to check in kiosks, to mobile computers.

Kiosk Mode

Quickly and simply turn your android and iOS devices into android and iOS tablets into a high quality kiosk. Lock down your entire fleet of Apple, and Android devices to limited applications and functionalities. Turn your tablets into customer friendly mobile devices, instead of paying for an expensive customized single kiosk machine. Moki supports single and multi app modes, along with web-based kiosks to lock down your device to web-based apps and URLs.

We Make it Simple

Pricing

Super affordable pricing. No hidden fees. One simple price, no confusing pricing structure and added costs for additional features. What you see is what you get. Price discounts as you scale. Support is always FREE.

Customization

Moki allows you to embed our custom SDK into your iOS or Android applications, allowing you to control settings and set alerts via your Moki dashboard remotely. Using Moki's APIs, you can push updates and perform actions on any of your devices.

Support

our products and best-in-class support team enable Moki customers to deploy more quickly-typically 30 minutes or less. Best in class customer support. We take support seriously.
Moki is obsessed with customer success. Chat, email and phone support are always FREE. Speak to a human every time, not routed through channels and robots. Audit of support tickets showed tickets were responded to on average in 7 minutes and 92% of those tickets were resolved on first interaction. Means you get timely and knowledgeable support every time.
